EL English (9-12)	Salvo	The Great Gatsby	English Language Learners in this credited English class, aligned with Indiana Standards for general ELA curriculum. Fitzgerald's use of language, the time period, and descriptive examples of changing mindsets among greater populations leaving the country behind and entering the cities to obtain the American dream benefit ELL students in building word use and meaning. Assists the students to understand the transitional time period of the 1920 twenties when structures of societies were considered "old" and "new" money. The intention is to move students successfully and rapidly into the general English Curriculum classes among their peers and this reading supports the transition by engaging students in class discussions about the ethical and moral dilemmas found within the literature of this class novel.

EL English (9-12)	Salvo	The Boy in the Striped Pajamas	Berlin 1942 When Bruno returns home from school one day, he discovers that his belongings are being packed in crates. His father has received a promotion and the family must move from their home to a new house far far away, where there is no one to play with and nothing to do. A tall fence running alongside stretches as far as the eye can see and cuts him off from the strange people he can see in the distance. But Bruno longs to be an explorer and decides that there must be more to this desolate new place than meets the eye. While exploring his new environment, he meets another boy whose life and circumstances are very different to his own, and their meeting results in a friendship that has devastating consequences (Boyne, 2008). Provides Pre-teaching and scaffolding vocabulary and developing a storyboard to enable critical thinking and class discussions regarding the Holocaust, cause and effect, and irony. Enables the use of reading strategies, discussion boards to support writing, and activities, including a graphic organizer for comparing/contrasting events throughout the story.
EL English (9-12)	Salvo	“The Count of Monte Cristo” by Auguste Maquet & Alexandre Dumas	Edmond Dantès is about to become the captain of a ship, and he is engaged to a beautiful and kind young woman, Mercédès. He is well-liked by almost everyone who knows him. This perfect life, however, stirs up dangerous jealousy among some of Dantès’s so-called friends. Danglars, the treasurer of Dantès’s ship, envies Dantès’s early career success; Fernand Mondego is in love with Dantès’s

			fiancée and so covets his amorous success; his neighbor Caderousse is simply envious that Dantès is so much luckier in life than he is. Together, these three men draft a letter accusing Dantès of treason. There is some truth to their accusations: as a favor to his recently deceased captain, Dantès is carrying a letter from Napoleon to a group of Bonapartist sympathizers in Paris. Though Dantès himself has no political leanings, the undertaking is enough to implicate him for treason. On the day of his wedding, Dantès is arrested for his alleged crimes (Maquet &amp; Dumas, 1844, Retrieved 2023, https://www.sparknotes.com/lit/montecristo/summary/). Supports the development of comprehensible input, writing and critical thinking on topics that reflect on revenge, what makes a book a classic and situations relatable across cultures.
ELL English (9-10)	Salvo	Readworks https://www.readworks.org/	Grade level reading practice. Occasionally uses excerpts from readings. Practice with comprehension, answering open-ended questions. Fiction and Nonfiction.
